The individual known as MAT GARNETT in the "Pious Novel," "His Natural Life" did recently in the Criminal Jail Asylum at the Cascade, near Portland. He was a terrible case of the cruelly executed by the officials placed as over-seers, over the convicts in the jail. He was known as "Mug" and his death was announced under that name. He is now of the old warriors who still live to tell the tale. I wish, I wish, that they could tell me, that I am not a failure. I am not a failure, something marvelous, and it is estimated that he must have saved hundreds of lashes during the Price regime. He has been a mass of suffering, and I wish he could tell me how he came out of the way, as he did not like being continually defied by the presence of the other crowd. Price said that when I said to him, "If you will consent to a time those things when I ask you to be present," he replied that he would not, and used the most harsh language. "Strong him up," said Price, "and give him this. He was mad and blind for some years before he died."

matter in M. Chesneau's pages; but there is a point in regard to the study of the nude which will be generally approved. After insisting upon the necessity of careful and severe course of drawing from the living model, the author says:—"But to paint the nude for its own sake is simply a ridiculous parade of the technique of art without realising its aims." Mr. Escott of the Fortnightly, is still seriously ill. He succeeds John Morley in the editorial chair, and is a great friend of Joseph Chamberlain. Both these gentlemen mis-

The annual report of the Government Statist of Victoria shows (according to the Argus) that the business of the friendly societies, is steadily increasing. The membership was considerably larger in 1884 than it had been in any previous year, and the income of the benefit funds exceeded the expenditure by a very satisfactory amount. But the matter of fact, the vast majority, some six-sevenths of the societies which were valued, were in a deplorable financial condition. Adding together the capital and the future value of contributions, it is found that these are utterly inadequate to meet the obligations which have been incurred. On all the 650 societies that have as yet been valued by the Government actuaries the net deficiency amounts to no less than £300,000. A few societies are so solvent as near enough the mark to be

The Warman correspondent of the Argus states:—
An extraordinary shooting case took place at Mepunga on Tuesday night, at the house of a farmer named George White. It appears that an elderly man named James Frazer has been employed on the farm for some time, and it is supposed that he felt piqued at not being invited to a dinner given by the farmer, and, therefore, he proceeded to

The front of the house whilst the party were dancing inside and behind the gun at the door. The bullet lodged in the keyhole, driving the key out against a young woman. The woman had evidently only been partly changed. Beyond injury to the door no damage was done. Fraser was arrested by the police to-day and lodged in the lock-up. Had the gun been properly charged, some person inside the house would assuredly have received its contents, as the room was crowded. Fraser says he was used at the time.

The Niall correspondent of the Age reports that on Friday last, while returning from Niall to Gorok, the greatest of the Niall warriors, Niall, as we have seen, is the

On the 11th of January, 1900, the Constable met a girl in the mill, a resident of Griffin, through Constable, met a girl in the mill, who stated that she had lost her way, having been nearly killed by two dogs in the mill. Her feet were bleeding, and the blood was lower part of her dress had been torn in her efforts to get through the grist, walked on to the edge of the millrace, where there is a spring, and returning gave the girl a drink. Then, finding that she was unable to walk any farther, he carried her on his back to the nearest house, where her wounds were attended to. Although suffering from her experience, she was returned to the mill without food or

The Victorian Secretary for Mines (according to the Mining) tells an interesting story in his summary of the "mining registrars' reports for the last quarter. He says:—"A small 'mine' took place in Grassy-flat, in the southern division of the Ballarat district, in February last, in consequence of the discovery of some rich cemented wash by a prospector named Hughes. Writing in reference to this the local mining registrar remarks:—"The prospector, John Hughes, an old man of 73 years, without any assistance whatever, sank the shaft to the depth of 20 feet on to the gold. He had to climb up to the surface and pull up each bucket

A fatal accident, with deplorable circumstances, occurred on Saturday night, June 5, at Wemy's saw-mill, at this place, near one of the Royal mills, in Addison-Campbell, Brimhan. The man in charge of the mill, was in the habit of sleeping there, and on Saturday night he went to bed under the influence of inquiry, with his mother on the floor. It consisted of layers of knobby ends placed upon the floor. It is thought that he was knocked down a cymethick containing a lighted candle, and while lying down, when he was immediately overcome by the draught of smoke. A Mr. Watkins, who sleeps in Mr. Taylor's drugist shop, close to the stables, was awakened by screams of "fire." He hastened to the stable from where the cries came, and saw Campbell crawling from a number of burning stables with the whole front of his garments burning. The neighbors came flocking to the place, water was thrown upon the unfortunate man, and oil was applied to the burns as soon as possible. Campbell presented a horrible scene.

The Malsbary correspondent of the Melbourne Age reports that, at the police court there, five Indians, varying in age from 12 to 16 years, were charged with unlawfully passing upon the railway line sundry articles, thereby causing a terrible suffering.

dangering the safety of persons conveyed thereon. Mr. McLean, who appeared for the Railway Commissioners to prosecute, with the understanding that the defendants would all plead guilty, altered the charge from the criminal offence to a section under the Public Works (Railways) Statute, bringing it under one of trespass only. After taking evidence detailing the circumstances, the bench, while severely lecturing the youths upon the enormity of their offence, fined four of them in the sum of £3 each and one £1, with 23s. 6d. costs in each case. The fines were at once paid by their parents, and the defendants discharged.

A terrible accident happened at the Cluses Company's mine on Wednesday morning. The victim (says the Mail and Express) was a man named John Owen, who has been in the employ of the company for nearly half a century, and who fell down the shaft from No. 13 to No. 1 level, a distance of 100 feet. Owen was well known as one of the contracting trimmers to the company, and was working in the cage shortly after 8 o'clock to No. 13 level. Whilst engaged drawing the traveller across the shaft for the cage to rest on, when descending, the poor fellow slipped and fell down the shaft. The immense velocity with which the falling man attained to a speed of 100 feet per second, was sufficient to break his bones.

the well-known at No. 14 level—four inches in thickness—were broken by the fall, the body being found in the space underneath, a few feet deeper. The accident was attended with immediately fatal results. An inquiry will be held with a view to the cause of death, but, as far as can be ascertained, the occurrence was purely accidental. The deceased leaves a widow and five children.

A serious robbery of jewellery has been reported to the Moulton police by Harry Henslow, watchmaker, 207 Elizabeth-street. His premises, which are unoccupied at night, were burglariously entered recently by thieves, who into the shop through a double brick wall, which was broken. The inner door, being from bound, resisted the attacks of the burglars. The property stolen consisted of one silver Geneva hunting watch, two ladies' gold guard rings, two gold Alberts, one small gold locket, one dozen and a half silver sets of brooches and earrings of different designs, a dozen silver horseshoe brooches, six silver gilt brooches, two dozen gentlemen's silver brooches, two dozen silver signet rings, two dozen buckram rings, one diamond and pearl dress ring, two gold oval shaped brooches, one lady's silver nooklet, one gold oval gill carbon pins, &c.: 11 gentlemen's 9-carat gold signet rings, set with stones of various kinds, bloodstones and sardonyx; one 15-carat gold ring, set with a bloodstone and a lady setting; silver brooch (guitar), silver brooch and earrings, large rose with gill buds and flowers, set with purple coloured stones, stones in earrings differing slightly in colour from brooch; two sets of brooches and earrings, flowers, one set with red stones, the other violet-coloured lady's silver locket, square shape, with bright coral on front; gentlemen's gold locket, with onyx, cameo (small) on front, rings broken off, various wedding and other rings, two dozen silver thimbles, and three 4-inch crucibles.

3000 new members to the association, and he was delighted to find that in London the members numbered 12,000. The object before the association was to extend its work by endeavouring to reach those employed in public factories, those who arrived by emigrant ships, and those who were leaving for some other place. There was no doubt that nection with the Christian Church, and it appeared to him one of the most serious concerns when it was his mission—to revive the fainting disciples on the morning of the resurrection—to be humoured to convey the first intelligence to the more laggard men that a new era had begun, and to speak a word of consolation to the patient Peter. It was necessary in Oriental life that women should have a high place and an important mission, secluded as they were. How very much still depended upon the female mission to the Zenanas to carry Christianity, learning, and happy influences to those who were excluded by the custom of their country from such advantages. On that common ground here of doing good to many city communities.

How many were there who were treated and were sickly? A gentleman who had visited the islands of the South Pacific lectured recently at St. Leonard's on the New Guinea Islands, and he said that he had seen the natives engaged in Sydney for situations in Noumea. When he arrived there, they were suddenly left off all means of support in positions where they must either starve, their time, their strength, and their health being wasted. He said that there should be some warning given to young women about accepting engagements to go to Noumea, and the South Pacific Islands, and that the Government should yield to that purpose. In connection with this, he trusted that the Government would prosper, that the number of members would increase, and that a rich blessing would attend the aid given by the Government to this city, the stranger, the immigrant, and the emigrant.

Sir WILLIAM MANNING expressed his sympathy with the objects of the meeting. He hoped to have a wide acquaintance with His Excellency, the Governor, who had always been very kind to the poor, and he hoped that the meeting would be a success.

Mr. JAMES R. FAIRFAX, seconded the resolution with great pleasure. At the same time he would like to see the Government in the balance-sheet, namely, not £300,000, but

re to throw out the suggestion that the time had now come when the society should unanimously consider the advisability of having a building erected upon its site; he believed that the numerous and efficient trust could be quickly raised, and the new manor could then be borrowed. With regard to the chapel-warden, he desired to say that his Excellency came here in 1867, and that he was very much surprised to find it happened to look at some copies of the Highgate published in 1884. It gave the portraits of several well-known philanthropists, including the Duke of Wales, Lord Salisbury, Lord Shaftesbury, the Marquis of Epsom, Messrs. Russell, Murray, and others; and he noticed that number one plate was Lord Stratford, so that his Excellency had come with that endorsement of his benevolence. He need hardly remind them of what there were suffering and bereaved, not only shown sympathy in

The motion was carried by acclamation.

His EXCELLENCY said he desired to return his most sincere and grateful thanks for the kind way in which the resolution had been carried. It had been a great pleasure to him, and also to Lady Carrington, to be present, and in her name, as well as his own, he wished the association every success and an increasing sphere of usefulness.

The benediction having been pronounced, the meeting closed.

The honorary secretary (Dr. F. N. Manning), presented a series of resolutions, dated 17th and 23rd April, 1914, by the Council of the Hospital, having reference to the periodical cleansing and fumigating of the several wards of the institution; the qualifications of professional candidates to fill vacancies arising in the staff; the regulations with reference to the minutes of the last meeting were read and endorsed, and the house committee minute-book was laid on the table.

The honorary secretary reported that the house committee had approved of additional clerical assistance being provided for the secretary's office, and recommended the appointment of a junior clerk, at a salary of £75 per annum, and a typist, at a salary of £50 per annum. Dr. Lipp, accepted by the house committee, was reported as having been elected to the position of honorary secretary reported that at a recent meeting of the conjoint board, consisting of the senate of the university and the directors of the hospital, Dr. Lipp was elected secretary of the board, and Dr. Jenkins was elected president, reduced vacant by the retirement of Dr. Jenkins. The board having deliberated, it was agreed that the first meeting upon which the patient was to be present, should be held on the 15th of the future meeting, and, sir, I thus, Sir, said affirmed his intention of bringing up a resolution on this subject.

A report was presented from Dr. Wallis, tendering the resignation of his appointment as Resident Medical Officer, and it was resolved that the vacancy be advertised in the Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane papers, applications to be received on the 1st of July.

The recommendation of the house committee that the operative building should be finished at a cost, the estimate of which was £100,000, was agreed to, and as it was considered, and it was decided that the matter should be referred to the next board meeting, the subject to be stated

Mr. H. E. A. Allan, reported

The treasurer presented the accounts for May, which were passed for payment, and cheques signed for the respective amounts, summarized, as follows:—Salaries and wages, £432 10s. 6d.; expenses, £388 13s. 7d.; general account, £215 16s. 7d.; building account, £12 4s. 2d. total, £1122 4s. 2d.

The meeting then terminated.

FLOPPING AT WOOLLOOMOOLOO.

Principal named William Brown

The accused was of muscular but upare frame, and groaned and writhed heavily from the fall of the first stroke unto the tenth or twelfth, when he again uttered a cry of agony, and his body was again jerked as if he seemed to give way, and evidently suffered much agony. At the twenty-third blow his body had been brought to full extension, and was drawn from the ground, hanging to the floor by the arms, and his head and neck were thrown back, and he uttered a shriek; but upon being released he endeavored to rise, and uttered a cry of triumph. The lacerations upon his back excited an air of bravado. The spectators upon his back and shoulders, however, clearly testified that his punishment had been a severe one.

TAXATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—At a time such as the present, when new taxation is about to be imposed, it behoves us to look around us for the means of revenue, and to consider the desired revenue in a more objectionable way.

This, I maintain, can be done by the letting for a term of years the suburban railways and tramways. It has often occurred to me that the Government might, at a very early

1. let the lines I have named?
2. can be secured, and the public ly so doing, a large revenue had to be sacrificed. Not only so, but not in any way inconvenient thereby. I am, &c.,

I believe railways in private hands are always managed better and more economically than when under the control of a Government.

THE PASTORAL INTEREST IN THE

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

WILCANNIA, FRIDAY.
A meeting of the general public of Wilcannia and district was held last night, having been convened by the Mayor upon a requisition of the principal business men of the town, to express sympathy with the pastoralists, and to impress upon the Government the necessity of so amending the Land Act as to compensate for improvements, and so restore the prosperity of the town and district. The meet-law was largely attended by the townspeople, and by the following pastoralists:—Messrs. Robert Kennedy, Woomininta; Edward Kennedy, Nunathungie; E. W. Donnelly, Gualta; W. L. Wren, Kavranners; W. Weatherly, Billilla; N. Gregory, Menanurtie; R. Rutherford, Weinteriga; John Booth, Bultowa; W. J. Brougham, Outer Nettile; Charles A. Smith, homestead lessee; John Bell, homestead lessee; and A. J.

Joelinton, Maine. Mr. G. H. Dowds, merchant, was joined to the chair. The Chairman announced apologies from George C. Coates, of New York, and Biddick (Weinger), expressing sympathy with objects of the meeting.

The meeting was originally intended to have been held at the residence of Mr. Dowds, but, on account of postcardist chairing: but, on learning that the proposed meeting in Wiliminnia on the 23rd, the people decided to carry on the meeting to strengthen the hands of the postcardists, and to show their sympathy upon the pastoral. Their thanks were due to the toralists who attended, some having come from a distance of 100 miles.

Mr. ARMSTRONG moved the first resolution, which was as follows:—"That the inhabitants of this town view with alarm the existing dependence of the community upon the slave, and that the statements of the C. W. are refuted by reasonable arguments for the following elements offered by them, whereby further construction of improvement has been secured in the trade of the country, and that hundreds of contractors and others have been thrown out of employment, and compelled to seek employment in other parts of the country, as to the importance of the subject. The must not be dealt with as purely local, for it involves prosperity of the whole colony. The Customs duties on imports from the United Kingdom last year were $56,16, and while for Bourke, the amount was $48,936; Wentworth, $46,099. In 1882 the Customs revenue here was more the double that of both Bourke and Wentworth, and they knew that most goods were undoubtedly, so that the Customs receipts for the whole colony were $1,000,000. In 1883 the Customs duties here amounted to £2000, and this was not an undemand of the Land Act the town would dwindle back to a similar condition.

Mr. COONEY, importer, seconded the resolution in a brief speech, which was followed by Mr. G. H. BARNES.

The motion was carried by acclamation.

The second resolution was proposed by Mr. T. F. BARNES, stock and station agent, as follows:—“That this meeting is of opinion that the passing of an amending Land

The motion was carried with the utmost enthusiasm. Mr. J. DANKLEIGH, grazier, proposed the third resolution as follows:—That in view of the fact that the interests of the whole population of these districts are so entirely dependent on the success of the pastoral industry, and that to the influx of this western district, from thence that the influx of capital, which is entirely necessary to its development and prosperity of this country, which has always must remain purely pastoral, has since the passing of the 1869 Act, been almost entirely cut off, and that in 1869 there were only three sheep stations in this district, namely, Moomia, Yarealla, and Jorjona's Well, with a total of about 30,000 sheep; and one cattle station. From the South Australian to the Queensland border the frontier was a long strip of open country, and the only means of permanent improvements, but owing to the new Land Act improvements had stopped.

The motion was seconded by Mr. CHARLES LAMBERT, importer, who said the district must not be sold out at once, and if properly taken up, would result in the district getting a return of its old prosperity. He hoped to see a large muster at the squatters' meetings the 23rd.

The motion was carried with the utmost enthusiasm. Mr. J. DANKLEIGH, grazier, proposed the third resolution as follows:—That in view of the fact that the interests of the whole population of these districts are so entirely dependent on the success of the pastoral industry, and that to the influx of this western district, from thence that the influx of capital, which is entirely necessary to its development and prosperity of this country, which has always must remain purely pastoral, has since the passing of the 1869 Act, been almost entirely cut off, and that in 1869 there were only three sheep stations in this district, namely, Moomia, Yarealla, and Jorjona's Well, with a total of about 30,000 sheep; and one cattle station. From the South Australian to the Queensland border the frontier was a long strip of open country, and the only means of permanent improvements, but owing to the new Land Act improvements had stopped.

pendent upon the success or otherwise of the parishioners' efforts to obtain a more cordial sympathy with the movements at present made by the association; either parties of the division to obtain an amendment in it Act to meet the peculiar requirements of this portion of a colony." He said the commercial interests of the Western district were independent of the pastoral industry of the district. They had to do with agriculture, and its town and district must stand or fall by the pastoral industry.

The motion was seconded by Mr. GEORGE HOOVER, member, and carried by acclamation.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded a most enthusiastic meeting.

The Orient Company's R.M.S. Sorata, with the inward English mails and flies to June 7, via Sea, arrived at Adelaide at 11 o'clock yesterday morning from Sydney. She left again during the afternoon, and therefore the Sydney portion of her mails may be expected to reach here on Tuesday morning next.

The Tweeddale, an iron clipper of the four-masted order, made her first appearance in Port Jackson yesterday. She is one of Barclay, Curle, and Co.'s build, which is no recommendation to saying that she will compare with any vessel of her class afloat, either in regard to steering, workmanship or suitability for the work she is engaged upon. She is a fine specimen of the Tweeddale class.

which sailed last night. The Tweedside is of older build, recently visited this port, the Tweedside is of older build, having seen eight years of active service, principally in the eastern trade, but last year she made a voyage to Melbourne. Captain Robert Peebles, who is in command, reports that she filled up with a general cargo, consisting principally of heavy weight, the Tweedside left the Clyde on February 15, and under her departure from the Smalls at 4 a.m. on February 17. Last easterly winds prevailed thence down the Channel, across the Day of Biscay, and up to the north-east trades. The S. E. trades began in 31° N., proved very light and variable, and blew throughout, and in 6° N. were succeeded by the usual variable winds, and the calms. The equator was crossed on March 23, in 25-30 W. The S. E. trades began in 3-30 N., and proved most regular, until a succession of light winds, with frequent calms, until the 27th, when the gale out in 22° E.
